To whom it may concern

Sean Dickens from BART Consulting recently did some work on our MYOB system to improve its functionality in our business. Before Sean visited us we only used MYOB for basic accounting functions and couldn't lay our hands on useful information about the profitability of different parts of our business.

Sean has put simple to use systems in place that now allow us to test and measure a range of aspects of our business. This has made the day to day operations more streamlined and has also allowed us to use MYOB to gather invaluable statistics about the inner workings of our business. This helps us plan for the future and direct the growth of our business in an informed and empowered manner.

I would highly recommend services like this to anyone in business who is looking for more streamlined processes, greater control and more meaningful reportability.
